Please join us for a reception in honor of DR. KERR L. WHITE, celebrating the new Web exhibit for The Kerr L. White Health Care Collection (http://historical.hsl.virginia.edu/kerr/). An internationally recognized pioneer in Health Services Research and Primary Care Medicine, Dr. White has been described as “perhaps the most influential figure in the field of health services research, a discipline that emerged from his study of health care delivery.”

Dr. White donated his personal collection to the Health Sciences Library in 1992, a collection which he acquired over five decades. White describes it as a “collection of ideas,” and it indeed serves as a road map of how Health Services Research and Primary Care Medicine have evolved in the last century. The collection includes books, reports, journals, as well as White’s own papers. It is also especially strong in; Health Services Research; Primary Medical Care; Public Health and Population Health; and Caring and Curing.

A physical exhibit, created for the occasion, will be on display at the reception.
